

23. French Wine Explorers

Every wine enthusiast's dream is to spend some time exploring France's wine regions and sampling some superb French wines. But, given the endless choices, there is a significant possibility that you will miss that one very special winery or will not be able to get into that one famous chateau. So, why not let French Wine Explorers do the planning for you? Established in 2000, this highly reputable professional tour company will take you on a first-class luxury tour of France's best wine regions, from Bordeaux to Burgundy and Champagne. They will carefully select the wine domains, famous chateaus, restaurants, and hotels, allowing you to have a fantastic experience that will last you a lifetime. You will learn about French wines, culture, history, and food without having to do the difficult job of planning and organizing yourself.
